ABSOLUTELY PURE

FROM ALL AROUND THE CITY.

Current Local Events of the Day Briefly Told.

Sites of Facts and Gossip Gathered on the Streets by Times Reporters—Points Political, Social, and General Happening Yesterday.

Civil Term of Court Ended Yesterday.
The civil term of the Hustings Court adjourned yesterday morning at an early hour. The July term of the criminal court will begin to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Death of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. L. Peters' Infant.

The remains of Bertha, the infant daughter of George L. and Annie Peters, who died at an early hour yesterday morning, will be buried in the City Cemetery at 10 a. m. to-day.

In the Police Court Yesterday.

In the police court yesterday morning Penn, Watson and James Hunt were assessed to the tune of $2 each for trespassing on the Norfolk and Western railroad property. Asa Reid, who was charged with being disorderly, was dismissed.

Alerts to Hold a Picnic.

The Alert Fire Company will hold a picnic and ball Wednesday, July 4, in Carr's Woods. The proceeds will be used for the purpose of paying off the indebtedness of the company. Good music will be secured, and a good time is promised all who attend.

W. S. Lockard's Brother Killed.

W. S. Lockard, a molder at the West End Furnace, received a telegram from Orbisonia, Pa., this evening stating that his brother, D. B. Lockard, was killed by a train at Shamokin, Pa., where he had been employed in the anthracite coal mines. He leaves a wife and one child. W. S. Lockard left for Orbisonia last night to attend the funeral, which will be conducted at the United Brethren Church.

Interesting Cycling Events.

The Virginia Wheel Club has received entry blanks from the Y. M. C. A. wheelmen of Norfolk for races which they will hold on Tuesday, July 10. They have a very fast, banked track, and some interesting events are likely to take place. Notice has been received from Suffolk of races to be held by the wheelmen there on August 2. A great many handsome prizes have been put up, and it is quite likely that some of Roanoke's wheelmen will compete.

Grand and Petit Juries for This Term.

The following grand jury has been summoned to serve during the July term of the Hustings Court: J. A. Fishburne, H. L. Chiles, A. G. Chowning, John Curle, C. A. Woolford, S. H. Cheatham, W. B. Stevenson, J. P. Wingfield, Thomas Engleby, T. P. Buford, William Deneer and W. E. Deaton. The petit jury for the month is as follows: A. J. Banks, J. M. Brnette, F. M. Bonavita, James R. Bower, J. H. Brewer, J. F. Bruback, D. H. Bacchus, B. G. Bandy and Charles Bilhart.

Young Men's Business League Meets Tuesday Night.

The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Young Men's Business League of this city will be held on Tuesday night next, at 8:30 o'clock, at Hotel Lee. The regular meeting of the board of directors will be held at the same place at 4:30 o'clock on Tuesday. The league has some important matters under consideration, and it is, therefore, expected that a large number of the members will be in attendance. Several applications for membership have been received, and will be acted upon by the directors.

Case Before Lucian H. Cooke.

In the Hustings Court room yesterday before Lucian H. Cooke, who presided at the request of Judge Woods and by agreement of the parties interested, the case of J. E. M. Wright, of Lynchburg, against Taylor Bros., of Winston, N. C., was tried. The claim was for a commission on a large lot of tobacco sold to B. A. Jones, of this city, by Mr. Wright for Taylor Bros. Mr. Cooke instructed the jury to bring in a verdict for the plaintiff, and a motion to set aside the verdict was promptly overruled. Mr. Wright was represented by Mayor S. E. Jones and the defendants by Scott & Staples.

Masonic Lodges' Installations.

The installation of officers of the Masonic lodges of the city occurred at their rooms in Masonic Temple Friday evening before a large attendance of the members. Pleasant Lodge's new officers were installed first, as follows: W. W. Dunlap, W. M.; T. M. Hume, S. M.; G. M. Kitzmiller, J. W.; E. L. Downes, S. D.; John M. Snyder, J. D. Pleasant Lodge's new officers were installed as follows: W. L. Andrews, W. M.; D. K. Briggs, S. W.; S. D. Barnhardt, J. W.; E. L. Wright, S. D.; N. E. Lentz, J. D. The officers of Bayard Commandary, Knights Templar, were installed in the presence of the Blue Lodge members. They are as follows: J. E. Porter, eminent commander; A. B. Hammond, generalissimo; G. B. Kuhn, captain-general; John M. Snyder, senior warden; M. M. McAllister, standard bearer; D. K. Briggs and George E. Markley, guards.

Bargains.

The Bowdrie Shoe Company have put their full stock of summer styles in low shoes on their bargain counter, and are selling at a great reduction. The sale started Wednesday and continues for a few days only. No shopworn goods, but the latest summer styles. It will pay to examine. If you examine you will buy, and secure one of the rarest bargains offered this year.

THEIR FIRST GOODBY.

A Bachelor Hears a Young Married Couple as They Part.

It was by the merest accident that I happened to hear the following distressing conversation between young Mr. and Mrs. Moonstruck. They had just returned from their honeymoon and were about to undergo the mortal agony of their first separation, for he was going back to his office desk, there to remain for four long, weary, dreadful hours.

"How ever shall I live a whole half day without you, dearie?" whispered Mrs. Moonstruck.

"You won't miss me so much, will you, dearie?"

"Miss you? Oh, Horace!"

"Ever and ever so much!"

"Every moment will seem an age!"

"My darling!"

"And you will come home just as soon as ever you can, dearie?"

"You know that I will!"

"Oh, Horace, I'm so glad!"

"Glad, you are, my dear little wifey?"

"Yes, darling."

"I'm a thousand, thousand times glad!"

"You old darling!"

"But now I really must go!"

"Oh, Horace!"

"There, there! The little girl mustn't cry."

"I can't help it, Horace. It's so hard to see you go. Why must we ever be separated a single hour? It is too cruel!"

"But I'll be back so soon. Be a brave little woman."

"Oh, Horace, I can't!"

"But you must. I'm not worth crying for."

"Yes, you are too."

"Indeed I am not, birdie."

"Indeed you are."

"Well, well, sweetheart, I'm off now. Just one more kiss."

He took a dozen and then gasped out:

"Just one more."

"I've a mind to keep tight hold of you and not let you go at all," she whispered.

"What would you do with ugly old me around all the time?"

"I'd be the happiest woman in all the wide world."

"No?"

"I would!"

"You don't love me that much?"

"Love you? Oh, Horace!"

"You little precious!"

"You dear old boy!"

"Goodby, darling."

"Is it time for you to really go?"

"Indeed it is. Goodby, birdie."

"Goodby, precious! Are you sure your watch isn't too fast?"

"Oh, it's just right! Goodby, wifey, dear."

"By by, darling. Come home just the minute you can."

"Yes, indeed. I'll run all the way."

"You dear fellow! Goodby."

"Goodby. Throw me a kiss."

"By by, my treasure boy!"

The door bangs, and I hear him go down the steps, and I think the agony is ended.

He goes out to the corner, walking backward half the way and fluttering his handkerchief. I catch sight of a dainty little bit of cambric waving from a window below my room, and I drop into my chair in all the querulousness and cynicism of my old bachelorhood and say:

"Well, I hope to goodness it will last, but I just don't believe it will. If I felt sure it would, I—I don't know but I'd get married myself."—Tit-Bits.

His Client.

All arrangements had been made to go on a four days' fishing trip to a lake up in Wisconsin. The matter of "getting away" was easily arranged. One was a young lawyer, fresh to the practice, another had the position of "helping" his father in the office, and the third had nothing to worry him except the action of cravats. They could apparently have gone for four months just as well, so the arrangements were made in confidence. But a strange circumstance intervened. The young lawyer sought out the others and declared that everything had been upset. Something had happened.

"What's the matter?" they asked in consternation.

"Boys, I can't neglect my business. I have just received word that my client will call tomorrow for professional advice. He shan't be disappointed."

"Which client?"

"Why, my own and only client, the solitary hope of my life. When he comes, I must be there to receive him. The fishing must wait."

Perhaps "the" client never knew of the sacrifice made in his behalf.—Chicago Times.

No Danger.

They watched the storm. The tempest howled, and the rain dashed madly against the earth.

"Darling," asked the living skeleton, "are you afraid of lightning?"

The bearded lady smiled.

"No," she answered confidently. "It is now well established that electricity will not destroy superfluous hair."

A crash of thunder made it impossible for them to resume the conversation for several seconds.—Detroit Tribune.

Teaching Him the Error of His Ways.

His Mother—Johnny, always remember what I told you. When you see any little boy showing anger, take him aside and make him feel that he is wrong. Did you do so yesterday with naughty Tommy Tubbs?

Johnny—Yes, indeed, I did. I punched him good too.—Chicago Record.

Matrimony's Weak Point.

She—If every atom of the human body is renewed every seven years, I cannot be the same woman that you married.

He—I've been suspecting that for some time.—New York Weekly.

Reversed.

He—How glad I am that I married you, my dear! Before that happy event I led a dog's life.

She—And what a difference now!

He—Yes, indeed.

She—Now I lead it.—Brooklyn Life.
